

TIRED OF ROAD PROJECTS THAT DON'T MAKE SENSE?

Better roads. Better decisions.

I'm running to bring more accountability to Boulder's transportation decisions.

Major road projects should be guided by real local data, clear and intuitive design, meaningful public input, and honest evaluation after construction.

- USE REAL DATA

Evaluate crashes, close calls, traffic impacts, and real-world results.

- KEEP STREETS CLEAR & INTUITIVE

Prioritize visibility, understandable intersections, and less visual clutter.

- LISTEN BEFORE BUILDING

Major road projects should receive meaningful public review and debate.
